LOCAL POLITICS.

Arguing the Democratic Case in the South-Southern Conservatism. Gray's Points.

The Union Veterans Club in Favor of the Republicans Adopting the Prison-Labor Law.

The Parliamentary Democratic Celebration of Last Night Keeps Patrons a Rational Hour.

The excitement on the occasion of Calvin S. Brice's visit to the southern Democratic cities seems largely to have disappeared from the public mind this morning. The proceedings did not attract so large an attendance as had been expected, the darkness being somewhat against it, and even good speeches failed to draw out the usual crowds. Judge Trumbull, Hoyne, Gray, and Sullivan, and Judge Brown of Tennessee represented the Democracy here, Brice, Gorman, Evans, and Gaffin the conservatives.

Mr. A. G. Hoyne took up nearly the entire forenoon session with a carefully-prepared argument.

The General began his work had an unfortunate way. The subject is capable of being made very interesting, even to a non-political audience, but Mr. Hoyne succeeded in making it dull. He read his speech from a manuscript, and his voice could not be heard more than a few feet away. Those who were in the hall could not see the speaker, and those who were outside could not hear him. Many left the hall, and the audience was reduced to a few hundred before the speaker had finished. Mr. Hoyne's argument was a plea for the Democratic party on the ground of its conservatism. He argued that the Democratic party was the party of the Constitution, and that the Republican party was the party of centralization. He said that the Democratic party was the party of the people, and that the Republican party was the party of the corporations. He said that the Democratic party was the party of the South, and that the Republican party was the party of the North. He said that the Democratic party was the party of the white man, and that the Republican party was the party of the negro. He said that the Democratic party was the party of peace, and that the Republican party was the party of war. He said that the Democratic party was the party of economy, and that the Republican party was the party of extravagance. He said that the Democratic party was the party of reform, and that the Republican party was the party of corruption. He said that the Democratic party was the party of the future, and that the Republican party was the party of the past. He said that the Democratic party was the party of progress, and that the Republican party was the party of reaction. He said that the Democratic party was the party of the people, and that the Republican party was the party of the monopolists. He said that the Democratic party was the party of the Union, and that the Republican party was the party of disunion. He said that the Democratic party was the party of liberty, and that the Republican party was the party of slavery. He said that the Democratic party was the party of the Declaration of Independence, and that the Republican party was the party of the Dred Scott decision. He said that the Democratic party was the party of Jefferson, and that the Republican party was the party of Hamilton. He said that the Democratic party was the party of Jackson, and that the Republican party was the party of Clay. The Chicago produce markets were generally dull, with little change to quote, but on many leading articles prices were lower than Friday. Is it not high time that the late explosion of dynamite on the steamer D. M. Parker, at Philadelphia, was meant for a man named Sparks, who intended to destroy himself and collect accident insurance. He was killed, it has been discovered that the life was insured for $20,000.

The Marquis of Salisbury has invited Mr. de Fayerweil, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, to a personal conference at Hatfield. It is said that the French Minister favors the meeting, which will be for the purpose of adjusting such differences as may now exist between the two Governments.

John Bonnewitz, a farmer living in Hamburg County, Indiana, several days last committed himself to his house to a fit of delirium tremens. Finding and then secreted a bottle of laudanum which he had hid. When nearly overcome and unable to rise, was found out and by his control other injuries he then drank his natural remedy.

ADVISED FOR FULL MINERS.

The New York scheme for taking naturalization of voters has evidently been carried through with three ends in view. The scheme Democrats was to divide to provide places and pay for a number of partisan hangers-on who were appointed "commissioners" with the understanding that they would have little or nothing to do beyond drawing their per diem, and for another lot of underpaid clerks who will be appointed judges and clerks of election. Incidentally it was intended to bring the Custom Station into the public schools and thus pave the way for the defeat of all school measures of the county system this fall. It is a good proof of the efficiency of this act that, although the business here managed to get itself back into the public Treasury, yet all the meeting of the Tax Rate is not sufficient to secure the other purpose of making the law ridiculous.

The Cartter ad position simply that the County Board should divide the election precincts into districts containing 400 voters, or as near that number as might be practicable. There was nothing in the bill requiring or authorizing the appointment of "commissioners." The board might have made the division on the basis of the vote cast at the Presidential election, but the Tax Rate carried through a scheme for the appointment of twenty-seven commissioners at $5 per day and sixteen assistants at $3. The act also provided that if the division was not made at the regular meeting in July it might be done at a special session in August. The Tax Rate accordingly kept the session for the last day in August, so that the commissioners could draw pay up to the last possible moment. The scheme has worked well, and the Democrats have been able to make a grab of about $5,000 from the public Treasury with scarcely a pretense of performing any service.

The reports of the "commissioners" show the attempt to make the Cartter law effective here. In the Seventeenth Ward, for instance, Commissioner O'Malley reports 1,000 voters, although the vote at the Presidential election in August and October was only 1,541, and at the election last spring only 1,000 votes were cast. The ward contains a large number of unnaturalized foreigners, and apparently the commissioner, either through ignorance or design, has included many of them as voters in the "400 districts." According to this report sixteen precincts will be required, although only nine were recommended by the Republican commissioners. In a number of other wards the reports will require nearly double the number of polling-places heretofore found satisfactory, together with a corresponding increase of judges and clerks of election. Taking the expense of the present commissioners and the pay of the additional judges and clerks, it is probable that the New York scheme will cost the people about $15,000. It is the intention to appoint that the commissioners have attempted to make no complaints, or at least have made grounds that appear reasonable, but in the majority of cases the reports disclose object ignorance or a fixed desire to make the alleged number of "voters" as large as possible.

Aside from the cost of public money by the "commissioners," the Tax Rate have not accomplished much. The foremost number of voting-places will make it easier for voters to go to the polls and cast their ballots without loss of time. With regard to doubt the foremost facilities for voting will open less often the additional expense. While nothing is to stop the vote but into contempt the Tax Rate may only become ridiculously. The act is so well framed that it will be difficult for them to make it ridiculous. The abuse of authority is just as manifest as in the former Tax Rate scheme for filling the polls-lookers so as to disfranchise many Republican voters; but as the result in this instance will affect foremost voting facilities it will not awaken so much public indignation, although a cautious register has been found on the taxpayers.

THE MILITARY JURISDICTION QUESTION.

The statement which was made some weeks ago to the effect that a conflict of jurisdiction had arisen between the Secretary of War and Lieut.-Gen. Sheridan was at once set to rest, but that a similar conflict existed last year between ex-Secretary Lincoln and the General is now shown to have been the case by the correspondence between the two, the substance of which has already been printed in yesterday's Tribune. The fact that Secretary Lincoln has kept copies of his own communications to the Lieutenant-General and the letters embodying the replies discussed may have given rise to the impression that this attitude would prove again, though it is much more likely that Secretary Belknap is transmitting the correspondence merely because it is before every officer that is interested to know the exact legal line of distinction between purely military and administrative duties that Mr. Lincoln had drawn.

The letter in question, definitely settled the status which Gen. Sheridan had held. During the War it was not made clear by Grant, Halleck, Stanton, or Lincoln. The latter, indeed, when he took command of the army in 1864, made certain stipulations, which were complied, under which it was impossible that any conflict could arise. With this Sherman complied that he was given a wider jurisdiction and Chief-of-Staff corps, departments, and bureaus were established "in regard to and not under the immediate orders of the General commanding the army." The extension of authority, however, was restricted, and when the President ordered U.S. off to accompany Gen. Sherman through his headquarters to St. Louis, it was his extension of authority, or the statement of the bureau of the War Department, that Gen. Sheridan ordered, but the order was not executed after Mr. Lincoln's permanent adjournal to it, and its no longer that time. Sheridan has any in matters of mixing 4 spirits.

The relations between the two are very explicit in defining the duties of the Secretary of War, who is the representative of the President, Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy, to all military matters, and Mr. Lincoln would in his letter, be charged with duties and powers of which the principal relate to rivers and harbor works, with the Superintendent of the Tax Collection, which he must attend to the Tax Collection, which he must attend to the Tax Collection, which he must attend to Army Rating and Red-Tape Officials in Russia Under Imperial Investigation Pro-ducing Severity.

Talk About a Russo-Constitution-ic Rumpus After Gen. Ignatieff Gets Back Home.

[Special Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The American consul at Paris is taking some interest in the case of Hayward, who was arrested for alleged complicity with the cashier of the Imperial Bank of Germany. He is well known, but little liked by Americans in Paris. He is a person, well dressed and polite in his manners, and appears to have access to the best and richest of resort, cafe, etc., giving entertainments from there for his friends. He has an account at an American banking-house under the assumed name of Lamotte, although he was known at the bank by his true name. He has been watched for the theft of paper for some time. It was the same paper with him and the assignment of confidential letters to Paris. It is asserted that they have been recovered in them as well as in the Strasburg robbery the French Treasury paid 100 thousand francs extradition.

A MIDDLE AGGRIEVED BY A PRINCE.

The people of Pesth in Austro-Hungarian States are very much in a revolt amongst. The doings of that Crown Prince Rudolf occupation is not quite out of the papers, now that a man claims the credence of a certain affair, and so quite late for compromising the secrecy of Rudolf property. The public Hungarian-ish is in unnecessary consternation with the publication, and a person suicide. The person in some trouble, and the history out of the papers, and should take through the process to the testimony, and there not come into and gave him an unmerited beating.

RUSSIAN POLITICS REVIVED.

The Russian correspondent of Vienna and London newspapers write an Odessa cabinet Russian crisis seems to culminate. In this the British newspapers have the Royal Grand Guard Wolfe, the special English envoy to the Porte, hastened subsequent to arrival to the Porte, that England is willing to undertake signal in Turkey with agrees to unconditionally Russia, and that England recognizes the rights of the other powers in Egypt, but will prevent power of them enough further to undermine a political occupation of the country.

The Marquis of Hartington has written to Mr. Gladstone, the French Minister of Foreign affairs, in a personal communication to Foreign Secretary Granville, in which he says that England is willing to undertake to withdraw from Egypt within three years, provided France will agree to the occupation of the Mediterranean coast of Egypt by the English troops.

STILL A MYSTERY.

Coroner Archibald Not an Adept at Detective Hunting for a Clew.

Time For Inferring Has Been Discovered to Shed Any Light on the Case.

The Suicide Delay Increased—The Inquest Not Likely to Be Held Before Tuesday.

[Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.]

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 29.—[Special.]—The mystery surrounding the death of Miss Lizzie Bigelow, and which the Tribune gave an account of in its issue of Thursday last, still remains the latest sensation in the history of crimes or casualties in this city. The coroner's office has been closed to the public, and the utmost secrecy is being maintained by the officials. Many rumors are afloat, and the theories are as numerous as the people who are discussing the matter. Some of the morning papers referred to the finding of a dead body in the water front here, in which the features of the dead girl were said to be identical with those of Miss Bigelow. Coroner Archibald has been quietly but vigorously at work on the case, and has succeeded in obtaining a large number of facts, which will be presented to the jury when the inquest is held. This event has been greatly delayed, by the fact that the coroner's office has been closed to the public, and those who have the information are not willing to make it known. Many persons are under the impression that the coroner has been unable to find any clew to the mystery, but this is not the case. Mr.

AREND'S KUMYSS
MILK CHAMPAGNE

Should be the reliance of the physician in all those cases of debility in which prompt improvement of the general tone is imperative. Kumyss is the readiest and most easily digested food, and as such the best nourishment for a weak stomach at the same time through the process of fermentation which Kumyss undergoes, medicinal qualities are developed which we could look for in materia medica, in essence, resulting extreme cases of dyspepsia, Kumyss acts like a charm, promptly relieving all the distressing symptoms of such cases. Where the stomach rejects all else, Kumyss is retained and assimilated, affording the patient nourishment, strength, and comfort, and, as a logical consequence, nutritious tissues and refreshing sleep follows. In scrofula, anaemia, rickets, and typhoid fever, Kumyss is the best diet. It satisfies thirst and hunger and allays the fever. Kumyss has conditions to the advantage over drugs, in that it can never do harm. Unless an irritable stomach will digest as plentifully which an intelligent physician attempts to treat this. But not only in extreme cases should Kumyss be resorted to. It should be the chief remedy for a weak stomach under all circumstances. The dyspeptic invalid with a few glasses of Kumyss a day will improve his digestion and his entire force. Ladies would be less nervous, more vigorous, and healthier looking if they would add to their daily diet a few glasses of Kumyss.

Send for treatise on Kumyss. Beware of imitations.

Arend's Kumyss is not sold to Druggists but to consumers only.
